RELIEF CREW REACHES

Fifty Victims of First Quake Found Huddled in Pic-

(Associated Press.)
SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 16.— Strong earth shocks were felt at 12:25 o'clock this morning in the Co-piapo and La Serena districts, where great loss of life was suffered in Saturday's quake, according to National Telegraph dispatches.
The inhabitants of Santiago were much alarmed early this morning when a slight earth shock was felt here. The motion apparently was vertical. The tremor began at 1:42 o'clock.
The director of a private meteorological institute had forecast an earth movement at 2 o'clock, due to the conjunction of the moon and Saturn.
Dispatches from Copiapo report the arrival there of a medical and relief party, bringing a large stock of food and medicines. The medical officers of the party found a number of the injured lying in the open air in the vineyards as the hospital, which was built in 1848, had been completely ruined.
Other victims to the number of 50, mostly aged persons, were huddled in a motion picture theatre lacking proper ventilation facilities. The patients were in need of most of the essentials.
These conditions, however, are stated to be surpassed by those in Villanar, where bodies still remain beneath the ruins, there, decomposition constituting a serious menace to the public health.
The inhabitants, without food, are living in a continual state of terror.

GOLDEN MACHINE MEETS SHEFFIELD

Determined to take the number of one of the classiest high school machines in the state, the Golden Machine of Albany High has been busy this week preparing for the invasion by the Sheffield football aggregation Friday. The game will be called at "Y" park at 3:30 o'clock. Sheffield has been strengthened since the start of the season by the addition of several old Sheffield stars who began the year at Lawrenceburg Military Academy.
While Albany is battling Sheffield here, the Decatur team was scheduled to lock horns with the Athens Aggies on the latter's grid.

General Wright Is Still Extremely Ill

(Associated Press.)
MEMPHIS, Nov. 16.—General Luke E. Wright, former secretary of war, who has been ill at his home here for more than a week, was reported in an extremely critical condition early today. It was erroneously reported that General Wright had died during the night.
General Wright has been in a critical condition for nearly a week and for several days has been reported in a semi-conscious condition. Physicians attending him had held out virtually no hope for his recovery and it was generally believed that his death was only a matter of a short time.
Communication with members of his family today brought information that Mr. Wright still was alive, but extremely ill.

High School Pupils Try Trial Marriage

Three eloping couples of La Fayette (Ind.) High School pupils, who decided to enter a six months' trial marriage pact, had their dreams rudely shattered in the Middle West, where they were arrested. The ages of the six elopers ranged from fourteen to nineteen. Frances Zufall, fifteen, was the bride of Glenn Cunningham, seventeen. They were captured in St.
Louis. Mary Alice Morehouse, sixteen, was the bride of Leval Cunningham, nineteen. They were arrested in Bloomington, Ill.

Officials Still Seeking to Learn the Method Dickerson Ued in Escape

(Montgomery Bureau
Albany-Decatur Daily.)
MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 16.— Roy Dickerson, Alabama's noted convict, was still at liberty today and the state convict department was making an investigation of every theory in the hope that the method used by Dickerson in making his escape some time Tuesday might be established.
William F. Feagin, state wardengeneral, personally is in charge of the inquiry which was renewed early Wednesday. Julius Wolff, chief clerk of the convict department, was working in the case with the wardengeneral.
State officials do not believe Dickerson could have escaped from Kilby prison without the help of someone.
The general belief is that he secreted himself under a railroad car or road cart which was being used in transporting material into the prison. The fact has been well established that the convict was on his job in the handling of steel for the prison cotton mill at 10:15 o'clock Tuesday morning. The fact also has been established that his escape did not become known until the prisoners checked one short during the count at lunch time. When the check did not tally with the number on the job an investigation developed that Dickerson was the missing convict.
The movement to find Dickerson will be resisted by countless persons who are known by law enforcement officers to be in collusion with him.

Will H. Winton Is Grand Jury Foreman

The Grand Jury, which went into executive session Wednesday, shortly after receiving the charge of Judge O. Kyle the presiding Judge, had an unusual large number of witnesses to come before them for the initial day of inquisitorial investigation. The jury is composed of the following members, with Will H. Winton of Albany as foreman.
Will H. Winton, as foreman, W.
Henry Walker, E. Louis Bowling, Robert D. Collier, Haywood Speegle, Sid E. Hays, Arthur E. Greenhill, Hardy Kirby, Thos. E. Kyle, Obe Lee, John Henry Thompson, Wesley O. Hendrix, Roy Grantland, A. Holbert Giles, Chas. J. McKee, J. Floyd Dean.
Judge Kyle delivered the charge to the jurors, urged them to use due diligence in searching out and bringing to justice those they deemed guilty of violating the laws of their country.

Rahm Says

DOUBLE MEMBERSHIP
NOW IS THE SLOGAN

Albany High Senior Girls Will Make Canvass On Second Avenue

Reports in the office of W. W.
Rahm, county chairman for the Red Cross Roll Call, indicate the people are enthusiastic for the success of the movement, so far as they have been seen by the several solicitors.
Good reports are expected from out of the Twin Cities, especially from Hartselle and Danville. Mr. Rahm announced after a conference with the Albany High School girls of the senior class this morning that they had agreed to take charge of the drive on Second Avenue, "with a push and a vim and a hain."
"I have no doubt, that if all parts of the county are worked as well as the high school girls will work Second Avenue," said Mr. Rahm, "that we will double the membership in the county Red Cross, a thing we ought to do by all means."
The organization will be divided up into teams of five or more with a captain and lieutenant in charge, according to Mr. Rahm. Which ever team receives the largest number of renewals and new members, will be the recipient of a five pound box of bon-bons.
"The hour for the drive on Second avenue has not been set," said Mr.
Rahm, "but I feel safe in saying that no one will be overlooked. All will be given an opportunity and urged to join. "As for the county we have until after Thanksgiving day, and the committees are being urged to do their utmost."
A Partial List of Solicitors
The partial list of solicitors in Albany, is as follows:

Boggs Win Right To Operate Ferry

The Board of Revenue at a hearing Wednesday, extending over a period of two days, ruled against the injunction issued against Messers Boggs Bros., sometime ago, seeking to restrain them from doing a general ferry business at the Albany ferry.
The board took into consideration the fact that, as Messers Boggs Bros., owned land situated upon each side of the Tennessee river adjacent to the ferry, they were entitled to operate a ferry under the law and regulations prescribed for such business. When seen today by a Daily reporter, Mr.
Boggs announced that they would start the operation of their ferry boat some time during the day.

Dr. C. C. Davison Delivers Report On Growth Of Sunday

LEGAL STATUS OF THE CONVENTION DISCUSSED

Centennial Year Planned To Be Observed In Montgomery
Or Marion

The Baptist state convention at Cullman was in full swing yesterday, with delegates from the Twin City Baptist churches taking a prominent part. Dr. C. C. Davison, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Decatur, made a Sunday school report to the convention yesterday afternoon, which showed marked increase of interest in that department of church activity. The highest interest yet reached in the convention was when plans were discussed for the year 1923, which will be the 100th year of the existence of the Baptist State convention in Alabama.
Recommendations were heartily agreed to, whereby the "Centennial" year bids fair to be the most productive of results of any in the history of Alabama Baptists. A large gathering is planned for either Marion or Montgomery, where appropriate ceremonies will be entered into and plans discussed and adopted for an aggressive Christian campaign before this time next year.
The legal status of the state Baptist convention was discussed at length by Attorney General H. G.
Davis, of Montgomery.
The second day of the convention opened with devotional services led by Rev. Tucker, a prominent Baptist minister of Selma. Early in the session the matter of funds for aged ministers was taken up, but deferred until today's session.
At the same time the needs of retired ministers are discussed, reports on the progress of work on the new Baptist hospital will be made.
Dr. William L. Lunsford, of the general board of ministerial relief and annuities will make an address today.
Addresses were made on social service and foreign missions at yesterday's session. Child welfare activities were discussed in an earnest address by Mrs. L. E. Bush, of Montgomery.
Following an excellent cafeteria luncheon served by the Parent-Teachers' Association of Cullman, at the city school building, the Cullman Kiwanis Club, took the hundreds of delegates for an automobile drive about the city. A trip was also made to the Odd Fellows Home, to the St.
Bernard College, and to the Academy of the Sacred Heart.

Judge Asks Kilby To Pardon Youth

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily.)
MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 16.— Judge John T. Raulston, judge of the Eighteenth Judicial Circuit Court of Tennessee, appealed to the state board of pardons today to recommend the release on parole of Tyrus Lawson, Tennessee youth, who was convicted of second degree murder in Jackson County and sentenced to twelve years in 1916.
Lawson was seventeen years old when arrested and was convicted on circumstantial evidence, according to Judge Raulston's statement. The bones of a man were found in Jackson County just over the Tennessee line. Circumstantial evidence pointed to the murder of the man by Lawson and he was convicted. Judge Raulston, who had not gone on the bench at the time, defended Lawson and contended that the evidence was not sufficient to connect Lawson with the crime.

DETECTIVES FIND
THE WAGON WHICH WITNESS TRAILED

(Associated Press.)
NEW BRUNSWICK, Nov. 16.— Another lost end of the tangled evidence thread in the Hall-Mills murder case was gathered today according to investigators who announced that they had found and positively identified the rickety old wagon which Mrs. Jane Gibson, the pig woman, claims she followed through "Derussy's Lane the night of the tragedy." Discovery of the wagon gave added strength prosecuting authorities claimed, to the story told by Mrs.
Gibson, who said she witnessed the double murder under the crabapple tree on the Phillips farm.
She claimed she was seeking corn thieves when she set out on her mule the night of the murders. She pursued the wagon for several miles, decided it did not carry the thief and was returning home, she said, when her attention was attracted by the scene under the tree.

First Hog Killing Weather Now Here

The first hog killing weather of the season came this morning, and many citizens took occasion to butcher some of their pork. This is the annual season of pork sausage and spare ribs, two dishes of interest to those of the south, and the occasion is always hailed with delight, as the sausage mill, sage and red pepper is gatered together, and the seasoning applied to the ground up meat. This dish has long been a favorite one with all southerners, and its palate satisfying qualities can be verified by all who have had occasion to taste its deliciousness. There is no other sausage just as good as home made pork sausage. There are various ways of putting it up for use, one of the favorite ways in the earlier days, was to place a convenient quantity into a nice clean shuck, recently husked from an ear of corn of the season's growth, then tied up and hung in the smokehouse, and smoked for several days with green hickory wood.
This smoke imparted to it a flavor which added to its already delicious taste. Those who have ever had access to some fried pork sausage prepared under this process, have a remembrance of the time which won't rub off.

Also Elected Over Two Opponents

(Associated Press.)
LONDON, Nov. 16.—At 4:30 o'clock returns from yesterday's elections showed the Conservatives to have more than the necessary 308 for a majority in the new house.
With only 70 divisions missing they had elected 319 members, the Asquith-ian Liberals 55, the labor party 120, the National Liberals or Georgeites 38 and the other parties 13.
Winston Churchill, former secretary for the colonies, was defeated for re-election for parliament from the Dundee division.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—With considerable more than two thirds of the returns in at three p. m. the Conservatives were rapidly approaching the number of names necessary (308) for control of the new house of commons.
Returns for 444 divisions out of 615 showed the following: Conservative 265, Liberal (Asquithian) 40, Laborites 96, National-Liberals (Georgeites) 32, other parties 11.
The majorities, however, by which the Conservatives were returned at the last elections are also much reduced where they were re-elected, the case of Prime Minister Bonar Law being typical.
The Premier was returned over the Laborite candidate in the central division of Glasgow by a margin of only 2,514, whereas in the previous election his majority was 12,915.
Labor suffered a hard set-back in the Widnes district of Lancashire, where Arthur Henderson was defeated by the Conservative candidate, Dr. George C. Clayton, after holding the seat since 1919.
The second woman to be returned to the new house of commons, Lady Astor being the first, was Mrs. Margaret Winttingham, the present member of the Louth division of Lincolnshire.

Major John Jacob Astor, son of the late Viscount Astor was elected on the Conservative ticket over the Liberal candidate, L. J. Stein, and the Independent-Unionist, Colonel Sir Thomas Polson, in the Dover division of Kent.

WE FAVOR ACCEPTANCE OF HENRY FOR'S BID FOR MUSCLE SHOALS

HIGH PRINCIPLES TO PREVAIL.

Full of sturdy confidence is the first public discourse delivered by Woodrow Wilson since his retirement from the presidency. Especially significant is the distinction he draws between armistice and peace. Armistice, says Mr. Wilson, is a negation, while peace is a positive thing. Armistice is merely a refraining from war, while peace is a constructive agency which "must be brought about by the systematic maintenance of common understanding and by cultivation—not by amiable phrases and hopes, but by active co-operation for justice. And justice is a greater thing than any kind of expediency."

In the view of the former President, there is every reason to expect this nation soon definitely to accept its world responsibilities. At present a small group in control of Congress is standing in the way. They cannot continue to stand in the way. For example, there is Lodge who is the Senate republican leader and who yet retains his seat by so narrow a margin that he himself fairly gasped at the danger of involuntary retirement. The chief reason why Lodge was re-elected is because, unhappily for the democrats, their nominee in Massachusetts did not represent the real democratic party. Mr. Gaston is of that "invisible group" in government which cares not for the public welfare and which is against rather than for popular government. Had the democratic nominee been a man of independent courage and vision, free from "invisible" control, and a disciple of popular government, which is the essence of democracy, he would have been elected. It is true that Mr. Lodge stood also for special favors in government, as his espousal of the burdensome tariff measure abundantly testifies. He had the advantage, however, of being already in office and opposed by no man giving promise of bettering the situation for the people.

Even so, it is painfully evident to the republican party that Mr. Lodge ran 50,000 votes behind his ticket and only some 8,000 votes ahead of his democratic opponent. Had it not been for the strength displayed by Governor Cox, Lodge would probably have lost in spite of the weakness of his opponent.

It is fitting that, on the very eve of Lodge's descent into political shadows, Woodrow Wilson should be proclaiming the immortality of those principles which Lodge was instrumental in delaying for a while. Men may rise and fall, but the high obligations and responsibilities of government, though denied by this or that selfish political clique, will eventually come to be recognized and accepted. It is the purpose of Mr. Wilson's message to renew men's faith in the onward march of civilized policies, which may be hindered a while, but which finally will prevail.—Age-Herald.

Every ounce of effort is just so many units toward the accomplishment of the thing which one has in hand.

THE SENIORITY RULE.

Once more the talk of abolition of the seniority rule is revived in capital circles.

Again the Middle West is announcing its intention to the control the Republican Congress.

This time the suggestion comes from Senator McCormick of Illinois, who conducted the campaign for re-election of Republican Senators and then took ship for Europe before the result of his campaign was known.

Senator McCormick writes to Senator Henry Cabot Lodge that although "the seniority rule served every well in the old days," it is his opinion that "the Republican conference and the Republican Steering Committee owe it to the country to put aside the rule, just as the conference owes to the country to make provision for the selection of a truly Representative Steering Committee, which hall meet regularly and as occasion requires with a corresponding committee of the House."

This is interesting as it serves to emphasize the differences that divide the Republican party of the East and the Republican party of the West.

The first would rather suffer annihilation than to concede that it owes any duty to the public. To the mind of the dominant party leadership of the East it is the public which is indebted to it.

The second suggestion of Senator McCormick is impossible of fulfillment. It is not within the power of the Republican party to select a truly representative Steering Committee, if "truly representative" means truly representative of the American thought. There are not enough truly representative citizens on the Republican side of the chamber to make up a "truly representative Steering Committee."

There is something more than true representation behind the agitation for the abolition of the seniority rule now being fanned in Republican circles.

The real cause is LaFollette.

The Wisconsin Senator, if the seniority rule prevails, will become chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

Imagine what a blow that would be to the Old Guard and to the big business interests that helped to fill the campaign chests!

And the suggestion of a Steering Committee likewise is founded on fear.

A Steering Committee would censor all legislation. It would give preference to what it wants and would weed out what it does not want.

There are a sufficient number of Old Guard Senators still in the saddle to dominate the Republican caucus. They could name a "truly representative Steering Committee," a committee truly representative of the interests that support the party.

The suggestion of Senator McCormick, had it come during the past session, might have resulted in some beneficial changes of the rules, but now that the suggestion is inspired by fear it is doubtful if he can appeal to the minority for help. It is altogether probable that the Democratic members will permit the majority to stew in its own juice, never knowing from one to another whether or not it will have a majority in fact.

The seniority rule outlived its usefulness many, many years ago. It is the fetish of the mere time-server, of the man who waits to fill a dead man's shoes. Under its operation if a man is returned to the Senate often enough if he is fortunate enough to outlive the other fellow, he will become a committee chairman, while men with brains and ability are subdued.

For the good of the country the seniority rule ought to be abolished, but unless there is less politics in the next Senate than its immediate predecessors it will not be.—Nashville Tennessean.

Every addition to human knowledge is an addition to power; by it there will be accomplished things which will light up the pathways of the future with a glow which will extend far down the pathway to the goal of all life.

So Mr. Beveridge was not sent to the Senate after all. There is many a slip betwix the beverage and the lip. Besides there is the 18th amendment.

And it continues in the same vein one page, two, three, five, eight. And it ends:

"—answer and say that I may take you in my arms and pour out the cravings of my heart. Answer and say that I may utter those words which will break my heart and drain my vitality if they remain unsaid."

"Oh, lady of my dreams, my very soul cries out to yours."

SHORT SKIRT WILL REMAIN IN HAITI

(Associated Press.)

CAPE HAITIEN, Nov. 16.—Haiti often has been referred to a backward nation, but in dress the Haitian woman of the predominating peasant class long anticipated the American flappers in two of her most distinctive traits. Short skirts and the trick of "rolling her own" were adopted here long before the flapper took them to her heart. Short skirts are a necessity to the woman who spends her days toiling in a garden or riding a burro. They wore them short in Haiti when Andrew Jackson was in the White House, and the style has not changed.

It was in 1915 that the peasant woman began to roll her own. In that year the occupation forces of American marines and shore leave parties of bluejackets brought a golden trail of American coin to the impoverished island. Regiments and ships bought freely in the markets, and the women reaped the benefit. Haiti is a country of caste, and the possession of shoes and stockings marks a decided social advance for the peasant class. They invested their earnings in them, but drew the line at garters, and necessity taught them a substitute.

It is now a common sight to see the women of Haiti on the roads leading to the city markets, seated side fashion on their gray burros, whip out stockings at the city limits, don them while the little burros amble patiently on, and then give them the final twist and roll before lacing their shoes. When the day's work is done, the reverse is accomplished as the city limits drop behind, and stockings are packed away until the next state occasion.

There is one distinctive feature of women's dress in Haitian peasant circles, however, that will hardly find favor in the sophisticated eyes of the American flapper. Frequently one sees among the universal faded blue and white attire, one of red, white and blue, with the three colors arranged in fantastic patterns of stripes and squares, usually topped by a bright red bandanna turban. A peasant woman thus arrayed, accustomed to carry burdens on her head from infancy, strides along in this gay costume with the carriage of a Greek goddess. She is a "penitente" who has broken one of the laws of the peasant code of conduct, and her self-elected costume openly proclaims to her sisters that she has backslidden from their curious code and is wiping it out by public penance.

The Secret of Egg Production Proper Feeding

This Book Tells How To Get More Eggs
 In Winter

"One of the important discoveries in recent years is that Mother Hen requires two kinds of ration. A scratch feed to fill her crop at night and satisfy her bodily needs. And a laying mash, rich in protein, to supply her with the egg-making materials."

"Repeated tests at experiment stations, which are borne out by experience of the South's largest poultry farms, have further proved beyond all question that the most wonderful egg-producer is a laying mash whose protein content consists of dried buttermilk and clean, wholesome meat scrap."

ATHENS NEWS

ATHENS, Ala., Nov. 16.—Special.—According to Clarence Burns, whose brother-in-law, Samuel Ashton, was lodged in jail here Wednesday on charge of assault with intent to murder his wife, Ashton shot Mrs. Ashton, nee Bertha Burns, at the home of her father, who lives twelve miles from Athens, on the Florence pike. Ashton and his wife had separated, and he came to her father's house Tuesday night. The woman was shot through the left shoulder and in the left temple, and while at the point of death, was still alive Wednesday night. Clarence Burns stated that his brother, Percy, was sitting in the same room with his sister, and was reading a history. One of the bullets from Ashton's gun destroyed the history, according to Clarence Burns. The Ashtons have two girls.

Banquet Meeting by Commercial Club.

At a banquet to be given here, in the dining room of the Masonic Temple Friday night, the Athens Commercial Club will sponsor the sale locally of $20,000 in school bonds, the proceeds to go for the purpose of erecting a new wing to the high school building. R. H. Walker, president of the city education board, will be one of the speakers, his subject will be: "What we have done and what we need to do."

Mayor C. W. Sarver will speak on the subject "Athens' Duty to Her Children." Dr. B. B. Glasgow, president of Athens College, will speak on "The Child's Education."

W. E. Willis, lately elected a member of the Limestone County School Board, will speak on "How to Put It Over." The final address will be by Col. M. K. Clements, county superintendent of education. His subject being "If It Is Possible It Is Already Done; If It Is Impossible, It Shall Be Done." The toastmaster will be D. L. Rosenau, president of the Athens Commercial Club.

Stewards Guarantee Salary of Minister.

The Board of Stewards of the First M. E. Church here, held a meeting in the church parlors last night. According to Col. M. K. Clements, one of the stewards, serious consideration was given to the matter of erecting a new Methodist Church in place of the First church, the work to begin as soon as sufficient funds are available. The regular church assessments, including the allowance for pastor's salary, were agreed upon last night. Col. Clements stated that every steward was charged with the responsibility of collecting the quarterly from the persons regularly assigned to them, with the understanding if for any reason those pledging money failed to pay it, the steward who held the list containing the delinquent was expected to make the shortage good. The salary of the pastor of the First church here is paid monthly and in advance.

Good Cooking and Self-Made Dresses Get Boost.

Domestic science, as a practical art, received a distinct boost here Wednesday afternoon, when a number of the ladies of Athens attended a luncheon given by Mrs. D. D. Glasgow at the Athens College for Women, in the dining room of the college. Every bit of the food was cooked by young lady students, and the food was served by young students gowned in dresses of their own making. Anticipating Thanksgiving Day, the table was decorated with autumn flowers, and much of the food consumed was made in the shape of pumpkins and colored yellow. In some instances real pumpkin shells were used as food containers. The favors were made of sugar, the shape of pumpkins and colored yellow. When the coffee was served, the table cloth was decorated with imitation pumpkin vines.

Members Of Militia Company Held Up

Privates Maples and Elam, of the local military on duty in the strike zone, were held up on Vine street Wednesday evening, and at the point of a pistol and knife in the hands of two negroes, alleged highwaymen, they were told to pass on. The two soldiers appealed to Deputies Sharpe and Wright who were on Lafayette street, and together they went to the scene of the hold up. One of the negroes alleged to be implicated in the holdup was located and identified at the Union station, and was promptly put under arrest, and lodged in the city jail. He gave his name as Lucious Smith. The other negro was not located. In the round up which followed, the deputies, assisted by Messrs Simmons and Brazleton of the Decatur police force, arrested two other negroes, alleged violators of the prohibition laws.

Prince Makes Late Dancing Popular

(Associated Press.)

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The popularity of the cabaret and the evening dances in London's fashionable West End restaurants is returning, and the reason therefore seems to be in no small measure due to the Prince of Wales and his brothers.

Immediately after his return from the Far East, the Prince appeared at several well known restaurants for the late supper and dance, accompanied generally by the Duke of York or Prince Henry, and a party of friends. Also since the return of the Prince from Scotland he has been seen at several of these dances, and so have his two brothers.

The Royal visitors applaud heartily the entertainment and music, but only occasionally take part in the dancing. The mere fact that they are present, however, is enough for the West End, and the places are crowded nightly in the hopes that some member of the royal family will be present.

TOM MIX, IN LATEST PICTURE, —DELITE FRIDAY.

All Boy Scouts and all lovers of outdoor life will be especially interested in a picture, that is coming to the Delite Theatre Friday with Tom Mix, the famous Fox star. It is called "Up and Going," and the title explains the general character of the picture—full of action, and running over.

Yet that is not the principal attraction that it holds. When William Fox assigned Mix to make this production, he told him he wanted some real Northwest atmosphere, in the country of the famous Royal Mounted Police. So Tom took his company up into British Columbia.

The result is the most beautiful picture from a scenic standpoint that Mix ever has turned out. There are water, forest and mountain scenes as a background for an exciting story, and followers of the wild trails will find many little tips on living in the open, and how to meet emergencies that are bound to occur.

For instance, there is a scene in the picture when Mix as a mounted trooper comes across his pal, who has been shot by a gang of whiskey smugglers. Tom has two horses with him, and must get the man to a doctor quickly. His experience among the Indians has taught him what to do. Cutting down two strong saplings he passes these through the stirrups of each horse on each side, and covers the young trees between the horses with branches. On this improvised litter he places the wounded man. In this manner he carries his friend to town and to a physician.

Mix, who was raised near the Choctaw Indian reservation, knows all their tricks of the open, and can speak the language like one of them. He is as much at home among the redskins as he is in Los Angeles.

"Up and Going," while a picture full of spirited action, is built along lines different from those of the usual Mix picture.—Adv.

The Free List Is Suspended Even For Spirits

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The artistic genius has changed, according to people who keep close contact with our annual autumn rush of its claimants to this metropolis. Every fall they come, by the hundreds, or probably thousands, intent of finding fame and fortune here where they know there must be a welcome and an opportunity for it. Most of them are girls, and they used to cause heartaches and worries to the kindly unofficial protectors of the young who tried to help them keep their heads above water in this maelstrom. They were "artists," they insisted, and they would do nothing except such things as were consistent with their "art." Today, that superiority-consciousness seems vanished. The girls who crowd into our city to paint, act or achieve distinction, in any other art, are perfectly glad to sell blouses, answer a telephone or do anything else to supply food and shelter while they await Opportunity.

In spite of the charges against "this awful generation," its budding geniuses have never been so sensible, we find.

Ernest Aimless accepted the offer of one of his publishing friends to sell books for the holiday rush. He took the place thinking it would give him first hand information on public taste in literature. One of his first customers was an obvious nouveau begins with O." Ernest was entirely facetious when he suggested Omar Kayhan, "That's it," she said. She insisted on it being illustrated and he found a gorgeous edition bound in blue suede, illustrated by Pulac. She went through the print and the pictures carefully, and then said, "Well, I'll take it to him and see how he likes it. Still I don't know, he is reading red books this year, and he has a perfectly gorgeous collection." Ernest is satisfied with the connection for this one indication of taste.

"Nighttime" is the name coined for use in referring to our 11 o'clock p. m. shows.

"Merton of the Movies" had to be done into a play by Marc Connelly and George S. Kaufman. No one else I can think of except its original author, Harry Leon Wilson, could have tampered with it without endangering the deliciousness of its satire. And they have done it as well as we knew they would. Glenn Hunter is the same pathetically absurd, heroic, Merton Gill, whom Harry Wilson created, and Florence Nash ful year in the church at Trinity.

Trinity, Ala., Nov. 16.—The North Alabama conference of the Methodist Church recently held in Decatur moved Rev. G. M. Hall from this charge to Tanner's Station. Rev. Hall had been pastor of the local church for two years and during a time most trying on the church and community, and he so endeared himself to all classes and all denominations in their trials that it seemed hard to see him moved to other fields of labor.

Rev. R. A. Thompson, from Powderly, was sent to this charge and he has already entered upon the work with seemingly everything pointing to the accomplishment of a successful year in the church at Trinity.

Dealers Wanted to Sell the Hupmobile

From the dealer's viewpoint, there are today only a few cars which are regarded—and justly regarded—as real money makers.

The Hupmobile is in the very forefront of these cars that dealers can handle with profit.

The Hupmobile is now so priced that it occupies a strategic position.

At its low price, it is recognized everywhere as a remarkable motor car value.

Hupmobile in Strong Demand

New thousands have proved they are willing, and eager, to pay a little more money for Hupmobile's more reliable, more economical service, and brilliant performance.

Hupmobile has for 14 years been recognized throughout the world as one of the biggest values, and one of the soundest mechanisms, manufactured.

Today the confidence in Hupmobile is more pronounced, more nearly 100 per cent, than ever before.

1922 Shatters Sales Records

For 14 years, Hupmobile sales have been constantly increasing. 1922 saw all records shattered.

Next year will throw 1922 into shadow. That is as certain as sunrise.

The dealer who obtains a Hupmobile contract today is in the same advantageous position as the farmer who buys land that has lain fallow for years.

The soil has only to be "tickled with a hoe, to smile with a harvest."

A Fine Car at a Low Price

People want the Hupmobile. They want it because it is actually a fine car, at a low price.

That is the entire Hupmobile idea in a nutshell. This car is built as carefully, to measurements as precise, of materials as fine, as cars costing two and three times its price.

In addition, it has the merit of almost incredible economy of operation, and even more remarkable economy of upkeep.

We are looking for sound business men, with merchandising ability, and good bank credit. Such men, we believe, can make more money handling Hupmobiles than they can realize on any other car.

We give real merchandising co-operation. We actually do help you to keep your capital turning over rapidly. Let us tell you how we co-operate. Come and let us give you interesting records of profits made by Hupmobile dealers in this territory. Write today.
